

Delhi University Professor honoured with Global South Award, 2014

The 23rd World Congress of International Political Science Association [IPSA] felicitated Dr Sunil Kumar, Associate Professor in Political Science at Shyam Lal College [Evening], University of Delhi [now Professor in Political Science, University of Delhi] for the prestigious Global South Award, 2014 in its award winning ceremony held in Montreal, Canada on 24 July 2014.

The award carries a special Global South Lecture, a certificate and an amount of USD 1000. As recipient of the award Dr Sunil Kumar was given the honour of delivering the award winning lecture, titled 'Changing Landscape of India's Electoral Democracy and Political Demography: A Study of the 2014 Elections' in the World Congress.

Dr Sunil Kumar is selected for the award among the nominations open for around 150 countries across Asian, African and Latin American continents for making a distinct research contribution to the countries of the South.

Instituted in 2009 by the IPSA World Congress, Dr Sunil Kumar is the second Indian social scientist to be honoured with the Global South Award. The first recipient of the award was Yogendra Yadav from CSDS, Delhi.
